
The circus finale. In the foreground, in front of the camera, Guido asks Luisa to join the others in a dance around the ring: "Life is a fiesta. Let's live it together."

the actors and stuttering: "Acqua, acqua, acqua." His real conquest was the technicians, for whom he did rope and knot tricks with his trembling hands. For years he has been a kind of camp follower of film crews shooting exteriors, choosing them as he pleases, quite well paid, given the actors' old clothes, and like everyone else entitled to a cestino.

Guido and Rossella do not climb the tower with the others. Guido asks her why Luisa's mood so suddenly changed, why she became so hostile.
